In grateful acknowledgment for guiding us in all of our educational needs and especially in teaching us how to follow our Savior.

CLASS REPRESENTATIVES

JOHNNY BERGMAN - Just two weeks ago we were assembled in our churches to speak the renewal of our Baptismal vows. We call it our Confirmation service. Perhaps we could also have called it a commencement service, since we became Communicant members of our congregations. This evening we are assembled for another commencement service. We are being graduated from our Lutheran elementary school. This should be for all of us only another step in the area of formal training for future service to the Church and all mankind.

We have Lutheran schools in our country and in some foreign countries. In these schools the pupils are taught God's Word, the way to salvation through faith in Jesus Christ.

We are grateful that we have had the privilege to attend a Christian Day school. We would like to thank our parents, teachers, pastors, and above all our heavenly Father for having led us this far.

May we continue to look to our God to guide and direct us through our lives. May all those leading and guiding us on earth look to Him for directives in guiding us.

It is a privilege to have been chosen to speak this brief message.

BERNICE MEYER - "Savior, I Follow on" - This is the motto our class has selected. With these words we are expressing a promise to the Lord. To follow Him requires of us to know Who He is, the only One through Whom eternal salvation is ours. We must also know the way He wants us to go. This means that we must diligently study His Word, and live a life of prayer.

Although temptations and our own weakness will constantly be stumbling blocks in our path through life; we will still say, "Savior, I follow on." The way is narrow, but if we follow the directions of His Holy Word we will lead a life pleasing to Him and enjoy the blessings of eternal glory.

You parents, teachers, and pastors have led us to know our Savior and are making it possible for us to follow Him. Our hearty thanks to you. May we never lose sight of our class motto, "Savior, I Follow on."

WANDA MIESNER - We have just sung our class hymn which expresses the same thought as our motto, only at greater length. May we always remember this song and sing it with great determination in the future as we have sung it on this memorable evening.

If we take the words of this beautiful hymn to heart we need never fear future trials and temptations. Our trust and confidence will be in Him; our will shall be His will. May this hymn draw us closer to Him day after day until we will meet Him face to face on that great Day.

As we go forth in the future and may not always find our schooling and life's way one of Christian unity and atmosphere, may this hymn always give us the joy to know that the Lord is our only Savior and that He will lead us safely to Himself to live with Him eternally.

In behalf of the Class of 1967, I say, "Thank you," to everyone; Pastor Smith, we appreciate your inspiring message.

CLASS HISTORY

In 1959, Matthew Tinney, Jimmy Wienberg, Roger Hesse, Dean Eckhoff, Mark Eckhoff, Elroy Schumacher, Dennis Meyer, Janice Schuette, Judy Ehlers, and we, Vickie Heimsoth and Wanda Miesner, began our excursion around the world, with Mrs. Helen Hesse as our guide.

We started our tour on an ocean liner bound for South America. On board we found two stowaways in a life boat. We adopted them since they said that they couldn't find their way home. The stowaways were Jennifer Noel and Diane Borgstadt. We then lost Jennifer on the coast of Brazil when she fell overboard. Her last words were, "I'll try to catch up!"

We changed guides to Miss Schnackenberg at South America. We sailed north to Greenland where we found Bernice Meyer and Glen Mueller chasing polar bears to keep warm. They asked if they could go along, and we took them aboard. We continued on to Norway where we found James Harms working on a fishing boat. He said that he was getting tired of fish and that he wanted to join us. So, we added one more. Unfortunately, we lost Diane Borgstadt when we went to a bullfight in Spain. Sailing on to Greece, we picked up Lee Roy Henning. This was in 1962.

In 1964 we changed guides to

Mr. Fadler. We had a big surprise when we landed at one of the docks on the Canary Islands. There we found Jennifer Noel working as a waitress. She was very glad to see us. A girl named Billie Allee was working with Jennifer; she wanted to join us, too, and we gained another one for our group. We lost Billie when we were in Pakistan. She decided to do more sightseeing. Down in Australia we found Sharon Luetjen and Johnny Bergman. They were chasing kangaroos. We decided to take then along.

As we came to the end of our excursion we changed guides to Mr. Schnell. We lost Sharon and Glen in Japan. They liked the Japanese food so much that they decided to stay. We found Ricky Hauschild and Kenneth Stewart surfing off the coast of Hawaii. They had run into our ship. After we had administered first-aid to them, they asked if they could come along, and we agreed. We then went on to Mexico where we lost Ricky under a giant sombrero. Finally headed for Cole Camp where we spent our last year of school with a total of 17 pupils.

CLASS PROPHECY

Here Johnny Bergman and I, Matthew Tinney, sit trying to think of what to do with our year-round vacation that we receive yearly.

Finally, after much debating, we decided to take a trip through the solar system.

Our first stop was the Moon where Dean and Mark Eckhoff were working as a team. Mark was designing "The Hotel Crater" and Dean was to build it.

We were about to blast off when a stupid little creature, with Dennis Meyer chasing it, ran in front of our ship. We decided to stop and talk with Dennis, who was acting as a part-time creature-catcher.

Finally, we blasted off and headed toward Mars. However, Johnny then went to sleep, and we flew past the turn-off for Mars. We crashed on Jupiter. Luckily neither of us was hurt. At that moment a Jup Buggy came over a hill. It had a sign that read, "Stewart fixes all." To our amazement Kenneth Stewart was the owner with Lee Roy Henning as the head mechanic.

While they were fixing our ship, we decided to take a tour of the planet. We went to the near-by city and found, to our surprise, that Wanda Miesner and Jennifer Noel were partners in a guide service.

They took us to a place called "The Clown's Portrait." Elroy Schumacher was head waiter and Janice Schuette was a waitress.

When we returned to our ship we found that the crew had left.

We took off and proceeded to the planet Saturn where we had trouble getting into the ring. After many headaches, upset stomachs, and one thousand gallons of fuel, we safely landed in one piece.

I opened the hatch and climbed out. Then Johnny, who keeps thinking he is a dare-devil, jumped out and sprained an ankle. With a lot of trouble, I got him on a space-scoot and headed for somewhere.

We came over a hill, and there it was, "Something," a town of two thousand people. After talking to several blue, green, and purple people, I finally got to the hospital.

I turned him over to a nurse. She took him into a room for X-rays. Soon afterwards I heard laughing from the room Johnny was in. I looked in and saw him joking with James Harms, the doctor who had fixed his ankle. James said that Johnny could leave today, but that he had to stay off his foot.

Before we left the hospital, James took us to another room where we visited with Judy Ehlers, the head nurse.

After we departed from Saturn, we went to Uranus. We were greeted at the airport by Roger Hesse and Jimmy Weinberg, who were employed there.

We talked with them awhile. We then went to a motel. When we registered at the motel we saw that Bernice Meyer was the desk clerk.

The next morning we decided to skip Neptune and Pluto and head for home.

When we reached Earth, we landed at our home town. As a tractor came to tow our spaceship away, we recognized Vickie Heimsoth as the driver.

So ended our episode through the solar system.

OUR TRIP TO JEFFERSON CITY

On May 9, 1967, we, the 7th and 8th graders, spent the day at Jefferson City, our state capital. We left at 7:00 a.m. in eight cars and arrived there at 8:30 a.m. We toured the capitol that morning and sat in on sessions of the House and Senate. At noon, all went their own ways for lunch. After lunch we met again in the rotunda of the capitol. From there we went to the penitentiary where we saw some of the leathercraft made by the inmates. After that, we visited at Trinity School and Church where the principal showed us the building. On the way home we stopped at the Dairy Queen in Eldon. We returned to the school at 4:15 p.m. We all had a very enjoyable day.

PICNIC

A picnic has been planned for May 25th. The children will bring a sack lunch. Probably a film or two will be shown. A softball game has been planned at the R-1 school for the seventh and eighth grade boys and girls. Other pupils will play at our school. Our hope is that rain will stay far away.

BOOKMOBILE

We had the service of the Boon-slick Library as in past years. The bookmobile supplied us with many new books. The children also took very good care of the books.

STAMPS

The sale of Church Extension Saving Stamps is continuing at this time. The total amount sold by the end of the school term may reach nearly $300.00.

United States Saving Stamps have been made available weekly. The total amount sold in stamps and bonds was $365.00.

MARCH OF DIMES

The contribution for the March of Dimes in our school was again very gratifying. The total collected was $42.00.

LUNCH PROGRAM

We again participated in the National Lunch Program. The government has supplied us with many commodities as it has in past years. We are also happy to report that the financial assistance by the government will be increased during April and May and the Special Milk Program will receive an increase during May. The cooks, Mrs. Hillard Stelling and Mrs. Helen Harms, have served during the past year and have accepted the contracts for the next school term.

GIFT

Our school received another nice amount of money from the Lutheran Brotherhood organization. This is appreciated.

FACULTY MESSAGE

To the Graduates of 1967:

You have dedicated this yearbook to the entire faculty of your school. This is accepted with great appreciation. May the years you have spent in this school have played an important part in teaching and training you in the way of the Lord. You have always been reminded that you have only one Lord and Savior. You have chosen a fitting motto and song, "Savior, I Follow on."

May the Holy Spirit, Who brought you to the knowledge of your Savior, strengthen you in the only saving faith; may you grow in this spiritual stature as you "follow" Him.

Congratulations and the Savior's richest blessings!

BABY TALK

Teacher: "I hear you've got a new baby over at your house, Robert."

Robert: "Well," hesitatingly, "I guess he is new, but from the way he cries, you'd think he had a lot of experience."

Bill: "Is it bad luck to have a cat follow you?"

Randy: "It depends. Are you a man or a mouse?"

Mother: "Now, Eddie, you must not be selfish. You must let your little brother have the sled half the time."

Eddie: "But Mom, I do. I have it going down the hill, and he has it coming up."

The little girl was on her first visit to the country. She was quite impressed by the cows, pigs, and chickens. But when she saw the peacock she was amazed.

"Look," she said, "a rooster in full bloom!"

A kind neighbor stopped little Dopey on his way to school and said, "That's an interesting pair of socks you have on - one blue and one yellow."

"Yes," answered Dopey eagerly. "And the funny thing is, I've got another pair just like it at home."

Big sister: "Bobby, if you eat the rest of that pumpkin pie, you'll burst!"

Bobby: "Okay. Pass the pie and get out of the way!"

Teacher: "Yes, Sammy, what is it?"

Sammy: "I don't want to scare you, but Pop said if I didn't get better grades, someone is due for a licking."

Teacher: "Name three collective nouns."

Horace: "Fly-paper, waste-basket, and vacuum cleaner."
